Guitar (acoustic, electric) – Tristan Watson

Tristan graduated from Leeds College of Music in 2000 with a degree in Jazz. He has been teaching in the county for 14 years to all ages and levels and also performs professionally across the UK. Tristan is an accomplished guitarist and composer and top Jazz guitarist Femi Temowo (from the Amy Winehouse and Soweto Kinch Band) described him as an inspiration.

Tristan is extremely versatile in playing acoustic, rock and jazz guitar and tailors lessons to individual students aspirations and ability. Exams are available in acoustic and rock grades but Tristan believes playing for pleasure can be equally as valuable. Tristan is dedicated to inspiring his students and raising their musical awareness and technique through the study of the guitars repertoire be it blues or contemporary pop/rock. He creates a positive and patient teaching environment that enables the student to reach their full potential.

Piano / Keyboard / Singing / Music Theory – Daphne Denton

Daphne graduated in music at Bristol University and followed this with a PGCE from Bath Spa University. She took piano, organ and singing lessons as part of her degree course, and has diplomas in piano and organ playing.

She spent many years as a class music teacher at Marling School but about 10 years ago decided to work for Gloucester Music Service as an instrumental teacher. She also acts as accompanist for music exams for Marling and Stroud High School, and keeps her own performance skills by accompanying performances locally and by playing the organ for services in local churches.

She is happy to work with students at any level and in any style of their choice, whether for graded music exams or relaxation, classical, popular or music theatre.

Singing – Vicki Field

Vicki Field is a soprano with a reputation in the Gloucestershire area and beyond, for possessing a clear and attractive tone. As a soloist she specialises in the baroque repertoire, and she is also in demand as a consort and choral singer. She lives in Gloucester, where she is well-known as a singer, singing teacher and choral animateur. In a varied career she has sung Handel opera, acted and sung in Shakespeare plays. Vicki was the Lady Mayoress of Gloucester for the 2015/16 civic year. Vicki currently directs the Ecclesiastical Insurance Staff Choir, who have performed in Gloucester Cathedral and other local venues. In October 2016 Vicki directed the choir in a concert where they were backing singers for the popular artist Vonda Shepard. With her husband Sebastian she also co-directs the Sine Nomine Youth Choir, a choir for secondary-school age young people. Vicki and Sebastian have recently launched the City of Gloucester Community Choir, which will take part in many city and civic events in Gloucester. For twelve years Vicki co-directed Gloucester Cathedral Junior Choir, and the cathedral's outreach programme working with ENO and WNO. She also worked as an animateur and choral director for Gloucestershire Music, co-directed Voices of Youth, and was Director of Music at St Lawrence's Church, Barnwood. As a consort singer, Vicki has worked with ensembles such as Musica Beata in Oxford, the John S Davies Singers in Cardiff and Pembrokeshire, and Aldwyn Voices in Malvern and Tewkesbury. Vicki co-directs Ensemble Sine Nomine, a professional vocal group based in Gloucester, and is also a founder member of The Proteus Ensemble, directed by Stephen Shellard. Vicki is active as a soloist in the Gloucestershire area and further afield, performing with Worcester Cathedral Chamber Choir, Fairford Choral Society, Charlton Kings Choral Society and the Corelli Ensemble. In Gloucester she is a regular performer in the successful lunchtime recital series at St John's Northgate that she co-organises, and has made a specialism of performing historical music in lecture-recitals, for example in the Three Choirs Festival last year ('Gloster Gossip') and in Cheltenham, Gloucester, Ludlow and elsewhere in recent months. Vicki is an energetic and committed teacher who achieves excellent results with her students.

Violin / Viola - Jonathan Trim BMus

Jonathan has many years' experience of teaching violin and viola in Gloucestershire, including Marling and Stroud High School, with success with pupils ranging from beginners to post grade 8 level. He also conducts the joint Senior Orchestra and the Senior String Ensemble for both schools. He studied Music at Birmingham University and studied violin and piano with leading musicians including Jeremy Ballard and Piers Lane. Jonathan has played in and led orchestras in the South West and has coached violins for the National Children's Orchestra of Great Britain for the past few years.

Jonathan also conducts Stroud Symphony Orchestra and Capriol Chamber Orchestra and composes orchestral music which has been performed by various ensembles. He directs string workshops in Gloucestershire and beyond including the annual Big String and has worked with renowned soloists including Michael Bochmann, Tasmin Little and Nicola Benedetti. He has worked with young musicians for many years in county ensembles and is currently conductor of the Gloucestershire Youth Orchestra.

Jonathan is comfortable with playing and teaching a wide variety of styles ranging from classical to jazz, popular and folk. Emphasis is given in lessons to developing technical skills and musicianship within an enjoyable and supportive framework, using the exam syllabus where appropriate for each student. Several of Jonathan's pupils continue violin and music studies at university or Music College and beyond. Above all Jonathan hopes to foster a life-long love of music making and music playing in his students.

Cello – Ms Caroline Simpson

Caroline has gained many years' experience of teaching the cello to students of widely varying ages and abilities and believes in making lessons accessible and enjoyable for anyone who wants to learn. She has a BA (Hons) degree in music, a PGCE in instrumental teaching and an ATCL cello performance diploma which she passed with distinction. Caroline has also studied Music Therapy, gaining a diploma in this from Bristol University and believes strongly in the therapeutic nature of learning an instrument and making music. A long standing member of the European String Teachers Association (ESTA), Caroline regularly attends summer schools, chamber music courses and workshops. These help her to remain current and become a better and more informed string teacher and player. She plays in several local ensembles, and enjoys performing solo repertoire with piano accompaniment. Caroline aims to help people play with ease and confidence whether they are taking exams or playing on their own or in ensembles and teaches and plays with an awareness of Alexander technique. She is interested in people and the craft of cello playing and will suggest and source music which stimulates and motivates students to develop their expressive/technical skills in a progressive way. She encourages students to play with and without printed music and also to improvise.

Double Bass / Bass Guitar /Theory – Saffron Young

Saffron is an enthusiastic teacher offering lessons on Double Bass and Bass Guitar from beginner to Grade 8, as well as theory. She tailors her lessons to suit the musical development of the individual, offering a wide range of repertoire from classical and orchestral, to current popular music, and most styles in between. She is able to prepare students for the performance aspects of GCSE and A-Level courses, as well as for ABRSM, Trinity and Rock school grade exams, and offers music theory lessons for ABRSM Grade 5.

She has been teaching in Gloucestershire for 10 years, having previously taught in London for 15 years. Saffron is involved with many group projects, including tutoring on "Bandit", the Cotswold Music Tutors Jazz Course, Gloucestershire Youth Jazz Academy and Five Valleys Music Centre and shares the running of a community Big Band.

Saffron is an experienced and versatile performer. After studying at The Guildhall School of Music and Drama, she performed in numerous West End shows over 17 years, including The Lion King, We Will Rock You, Les Miserable, Guys 'n' Dolls, Mamma Mia, Phantom of the Opera and many others. TV and radio credits include 'Goldeneye', breakfast TV with Michael Ball, 'Top of the Pops' with Seal, 'Woman's Hour' with Ivy Benson, and 'Jazz Notes' with Chrissy Lee. She is an experienced jazz and big band performer and has performed with the BBC Big Band, The Glen Miller Orchestra and has toured extensively with Helen Shapiro, Russell Watson and G4 and numerous theatre shows.

Clarinet / Piano / Music Theory – Lyndsay Wyer

Qualifications: BA (Music & Maths); LGSM (Piano); DipABRSM (Clarinet); CTABRSM (Clarinet)

As a very experienced instrumental and theory teacher with excellent results, Lyndsay has been teaching in Marling & Stroud High school and other Gloucestershire schools, as well as privately, for over 20 years. She enjoys preparing pupils for examination in both clarinet and piano from beginner to grade 8+, but is also equally happy teaching them how to play the latest Adele hit! Lyndsay also coaches students for the grade 5 music theory exam.

Lyndsay believes it is important to work with each pupil to develop their musical skills and aims. Lessons cover all aspects of technique and a varied range of musical styles. Ensemble playing, as well as some composition and improvisation may also be included.

Lyndsay is keen to be involved in all parts of her students' instrumental experience, and enjoys accompanying them for concerts, exams and GCSE/A level recitals. All lessons are conducted in a relaxed and happy atmosphere, with a lot of laughter included in the hard work.

Flute – Debbie Davis B.Ed (Hons)

Debbie is an experienced teacher who, after gaining a Bachelor of Education degree with first class honours, spent thirteen years as a classroom teacher, specialising in Music. Her love of inspiring students to make music led her to focus on instrumental teaching, and in 2007 she joined the Gloucestershire Music Service.

Debbie's approach to teaching is flexible, depending on the needs of the student, but her lessons are always relaxed and friendly. She develops sound technique and good musicianship from the very first lesson, whether students wish to take exams or not. For students that do want to take exams, Debbie is happy to work with ABRSM and Trinity College syllabuses, in classical or jazz flute. Debbie enjoys teaching all abilities from beginner to grade 8 and above.

Debbie provides opportunities for her students to attend ensemble sessions which can either lead to performances at school concerts or ensemble performances for GCSE and A level. She also encourages her students to perform solo at informal concerts wherever possible. Debbie is an able pianist and prefers to accompany her own students in concerts and exams, as it helps them to feel confident. In her spare time Debbie enjoys playing flute and piccolo in local orchestras, which include Gloucestershire Symphony Orchestra, Stroud Symphony Orchestra, Cheltenham Symphony Orchestra and the Cheltenham Cantilena Orchestra.

Saxophone – Alice Cubbin

Classical and Jazz (also Pop/Rock) Saxophone (all sizes), Jazz/Improvisation (to students experienced in other instruments) – Alice Cubbin BMus (Hons), ISM, CMT

As an experienced teacher and instrumental workshop leader Alice has been teaching in the South West for more than a decade. She is a graduate of the BA (Mus) programme of Bath Spa University, where she graduated top of her class in both the teaching, jazz performance and composition programmes. She has worked professionally as musical theatre orchestral musician and has been lucky enough to study under some of the country's best saxophonists. She has been teaching and performing professionally since graduation and is a member of the Cotswold Music Teachers Co-operative and the International Society of Musicians.

Alice has had commercial success playing in the horn sections of soul band 'Soul'd' and the Jazz Quintet 'Cardinal' as well as being a current member of the IKB Quintet. She has been a member of acclaimed Jazz Factory based at Wiltshire Music Centre where she has run a saxophone technique focus class. As a composer she has written numerous works with performances ranging from Bath Guildhall to the Birmingham Arts Festival and Shrewsbury Folk Festival amongst others.

As an experienced teacher Alice mentors students from beginners' level to graduate standard. She believes in covering a wide range of music from classical to jazz; that enjoyment of music is the route to success, and that all students will benefit from the opportunity to perform with others, whether just a duet to a parent or friend or as part of a band or orchestra.

Ukulele & Mandolin - Anthony Bunting

Anthony has been playing various types of musical instruments ever since he first picked up a ukulele when he was three years old. Many years on he is now a successful teacher of a number of different instruments including the ukulele and mandolin. He is also a writer and performer alongside his wife who also teaches musical instruments.

Anthony strongly believes that the ukulele is wonderfully versatile instrument that can be used to play anything from simple little songs to far more complexed and impressive arrangements. He also thinks that the mandolin, having made a resurgence due to the current folk music boom, is a fabulous instrument that can be used for traditional folk to pop and rock music.

Lessons with Anthony are structured for each individual, enabling his students to progress at their own speed and to get a good understanding of the instrument. He makes sure that the student has fun too because the enjoyment of playing is key to progression.

Instrumental Tuition Scheme

During the academic year a minimum total of 30 lessons will be available. Lessons are normally 30 minutes long and are offered either individually or in groups of two but there are some variations depending upon the choice of instrument and individual circumstances; these have to be agreed with the individual teacher. The choice depends equally upon:

- educational need
- the pressure on teaching time
- parental choice

The lessons are divided into three modules. However, because of the different length of the terms, the autumn term will consist of approximately 12 lessons, the spring term 10, and the summer term 8. For all instrumental staff, arrangements will be made in direct negotiation between parent and instrumental teacher. This means that within a 40-week academic year the effect of unforeseen events such as school closure or teacher absence should not affect the availability of the 30 lessons offered.

CHARGES

Please contact instrumental staff direct to enquire about their charges for tuition.

In cases of financial hardship, please see 'Bursaries' section below.

OTHER COSTS (Examinations)

The school will continue to enter your son for ABRSM, Rock School and Trinity Guildhall practical examinations, as appropriate, when instructed by his instrumental teacher. Additional charges will apply and notification of these will be provided prior to entry for examinations.

BURSARIES

As with all activities parents can apply for support from the school. Bursaries are available to students regardless of who teaches their instrument. For further information on our bursaries please contact Mrs Kathy Small.

GCSE & A Level Students

A bursary is available for students commencing GCSE and AS/A2 music courses (excluding A level Music Technology). Please be aware that it is only possible to apply for one bursary per student even if they are studying two instruments. Please contact Mrs Kathy Small for further information.

Bursaries are subject to change at the discretion of the governors of Marling School.

WHO CAN APPLY FOR LESSONS?

All students may apply for lessons directly with the teaching staff and wherever possible their request will be met. However, it must be realised that neither teaching time nor teaching space is limitless, and where lessons are oversubscribed, instrumental staff may need to place a student on their waiting list. Other factors such as the size of a student's hands may affect the choice of instrument and teachers will advise a student if they are likely to encounter difficulties in pursuing their choice.

Teachers may consider teaching in groups of three in special circumstances, but this will need to be agreed with the instrumental teacher concerned.

PROVISION OF INSTRUMENTS

It is the responsibility of the student/parent/guardian to provide an adequate instrument to learn on; if the request is for piano lessons then ready access to a piano / suitable keyboard at home is essential. Instruments may be hired from the Gloucestershire Music Service at Colwell Arts Centre (Gloucester), but parents/guardians and students would be well advised to seriously consider purchasing their own instrument. Should you need to return an instrument for repair or no longer require the instrument, it is the responsibility of the parent/guardian to arrange for its return to Colwell Arts Centre. For further information and a Gloucestershire Music Instrument Hire application form, please contact Mrs Kathy Small.

There are now many schemes offered by music shops that are of a hire-and-buy nature and which do not attract interest charges. Details are available from the Music Department if you wish to consider this course of action.

EXPECTATIONS

Attendance

In preparing instrumental timetables allowance will be made for known school events that appear on the school calendar. It is obviously not possible to foresee every school visit or informal test that takes place during the school year. However, as students are informed about these in time to prepare themselves, it is assumed that they also have time to inform instrumental teachers as well. Wherever possible an alternative time will be arranged but this may not always be feasible unless a gap has arisen elsewhere. Students are not to arrange lesson swaps with another student without informing their instrumental teacher.

Absence from a lesson on the part of the student will not normally be made up, but absence on the part of the teacher will normally be made up or a refund will be made at the end of the year. Any long-term absence due to illness should be discussed with the teacher immediately.

Attendance registers for instrumental lessons will be kept by teaching staff. If there are two consecutive, unexplained absences, or if the pattern of their son's attendance is causing concern, parents will be contacted directly by the instrumental teacher concerned so that the best possible course of action can be pursued.

Preparation

The expectation is that a student will attend their instrumental lesson with their instrument, music and having practised regularly. If a student is not properly equipped or prepared they will be sent back to their curriculum lesson where their time can be more profitably spent. By looking at the timetables posted in the music block and their own individual copy of the timetable, students will be able to see in advance when their lessons are. Students should keep staff informed if there is a clash with an important event such as a test in a curriculum subject so that alternative arrangements can be made. It is also expected that students will support school extra-curricular musical activities in order to maximise their progress and experience.

All classwork missed due to an instrumental lesson must be made up and homework collected. It is the students' responsibility to find out what work or homework has been missed due to their attendance at an instrumental lesson. The student must make sure that this missed work or homework is completed.

If a student is told not to miss an academic lesson due to GCSE Controlled Conditions or an important assessment, the student must check to see if their instrumental lesson clashes. With sufficient notice it may be possible to change the instrumental lesson and arrange a swap with another student. Please contact either the instrumental teacher direct or the Head of Music.

Reports

An instrumental report will be issued by the appropriate instrumental teacher direct to parents at the end of the academic year.
